

Legal Issues for the Health Industry

This seminar was originally scheduled for the 21st May but was postponed due to severe weather damage to homes and roads around Brisbane, and the potential demands on the health industry this might have caused. We apologise for any inconvenience.

Performance Management in the Clinical Setting

Managing the performance of medical, nursing and administrative staff is a vital but highly challenging role for management in the health industry.

In this workshop, Heinz Lepahe, Partner of Cooper Grace Ward, will provide a detailed "how to" guide on the process of performance management and the legal issues that must be taken into account in dealing with this often difficult area.

The workshop will focus on practical guidelines for performance management, communication and resolving issues that arise in this area. The seminar will also provide an opportunity for group discussion of case examples.

Heinz Lepahe, Partner, Cooper Grace Ward

Heinz has been a commercial lawyer practising in employment and workplace relations for some 16 years and is widely regarded as a leading practitioner in his field. He has considerable experience as a lawyer and advocate, appearing in the Federal Court of Australia, Federal Magistrates Court, The Australian, New South Wales and Queensland Industrial Relations Commissions, the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission and the Anti Discrimination Tribunal Queensland.

Heinz has worked with major corporations such as Bechtel Australia, Boral, Williams Corporation, Thiess, Warner Brothers, Tyco International, Suncorp, Workpac and Jupiters. He provides strategic advice and representation in a myriad of industrial relations matters.

He also teaches Workplace Law to final year students at Griffith University and provides seminars and training to a number of Queensland and national industry associations.
